

In project one I used brackets.io to code my webpage. I have used Visual Studios before but brackets.io was a nice change as it was easy to pick up on and use. I tested my page through Google Chrome and also had no issue with this platform as well. All my code seems to comply with standard HTML5 protocols.